

Code of Conduct in Brief

- All employees are required to read, understand, enforce and adhere to the various Company Policies and the Code, and also ensure that others who work for you also do the same.
- Employees are required to undertake their duties in a professional, responsible, conscientious and ethical manner and to act in the best interests of the company. They are expected to act honestly in all of their duties when dealing with clients, suppliers, contractors and fellow employees.
- Shall not commit any offences involving moral turpitude or any act contrary to law or opposed to the public policy.
- Shall not communicate with any member of press or publicity media or any other outside agency on matters concerning the Company, except through the designated spokespersons or authorized otherwise.
- The Company and its employees have provided services for several years and have built up significant goodwill over that time in the domestic market. This goodwill is one of the most important assets of the Company and therefore the employees, agents and contractors, while representing the Company, must act to preserve and enhance our reputation and goodwill.
- The company is well-recognised and respected and projects a particular image to our clients. Employees must therefore ensure that their appearance is neat, clean and appropriate for their particular area of work. A high standard of personal hygiene is expected at all times.
- Always conform to the various statutory laws/regulations/ guidelines applicable for the operation of the Company and not indulge in unethical or illegal practices and avoid violations or non-compliance.
- The Company is committed to implementing the provisions of the Child labour (Prohibition and Regulation) Act, 1986. Employees will ensure that no breach in this regard takes place.
- Protect Company's confidential and proprietary information, trade secrets including customer information, vendor lists, business plans, strategic objectives, unpublished financial information and any other critical data used in the Company's day-to-day business and not to disclose such information to outsiders (except on 'need to know' basis) and not to use such information for own benefit.

- To abide by the Non-Disclosure Agreements signed with prospective customers and suppliers.
- To respect the trade secrets, patents and trade mark and copyrights of others and not to infringe the same.
- Not to make any oral or written commitment that unduly binds the Company or which modifies an existing arrangement, understanding or agreement with a third party, without approval, consistent with delegation levels, from appropriate functions such as Finance, Commercial or Legal, as the case may be.
- Apply yourselves diligently and objectively in discharging your responsibilities and contribute to the conduct of the business and progress of the Company.
- Not to associate yourself with any competing organizations, directly or indirectly, without the prior approval of the HOD and GM - HR.
- Not to derive personal benefit or undue advantage (financial or otherwise) by virtue of one's position or relationship with the Company.
- Adopt total transparency in any dealing with the Company; disclose full details of any personal interest (direct or indirect) in any transaction with the Company; and not be a party to transactions or decisions involving conflict between personal interest and Company's interest.
- Conduct yourself in such manner as not to adversely impact the image or reputation of the Company.
- Possession, use or trafficking in illegal drugs on the premises is not permitted. Any such activity will be immediately referred to the police and the company may take disciplinary action, which may include termination of employment. Employees should not be under the influence of alcohol or other substances while they are at work.

- Employees must ensure that the safety and health of other employees, volunteers and clients are not endangered by any misuse. The company expects employees to perform their jobs with skill, care and diligence. Employees should not perform any act or omission that is likely to have a detrimental effect on their work performance and that of other employees and clients.
- It is the responsibility of all employees within the company to ensure that premises and facilities are free from harassment; managers have a particular and clear responsibility to meet this requirement. Those who become aware of serious breaches of policy must immediately notify their manager or HR.
- Bullying is unacceptable conduct within the company and all reported incidents will be investigated. Bullying includes such behaviour as verbal abuse, shouting, groupism, deliberately withholding information vital for effective work performance, giving employees impossible assignments and physical abuse.
- Anti-discrimination laws provide guidelines on respecting personal difference. Treating people differently on the basis of personal characteristics is unlawful. The following are examples of attributes: age, industrial activity, parental status, political belief, personal association, race, ethnic background, carer status, marital status, pregnancy/potential, lawful sexual activity, unrelated criminal record, impairment, religious belief/activity, physical features, gender identity, disability and sex.

Discrimination is unacceptable conduct within the company and all reported incidents will be investigated.

- The Company is committed to maintaining a professional work environment and strongly disapproves of all forms of sexual harassment. Employees who believe they have been subjected to sexual harassment or who have witnessed sexual harassment should report such incidents to their supervisors, Functional Head, or Head of Human Resources. If an employee is uncomfortable reporting the incident to designated authorities, he or she should contact any other officer of the Company, who shall appropriately communicate the same to the designated authorities
- Inform the HOD any information of any development, internal or external, which could impact the Company's operations.
- Protect the integrity of the Company's accounting, financial and other records. Everyone involved in creating and recording such information is responsible for its integrity. No false and misleading entries shall be made; no undue credit or debit notes shall be raised; no asset of the Company shall be disposed off without prior approval; no corporate funds shall be utilized for unlawful purpose; no unauthorized commitment shall be made so as to unduly bind the Company; no funds or assets of the Company shall be used for contribution to any political party or candidate.

- Protect the Company's assets, equipment's, systems, facilities and be alert to situations or incidents that could lead to loss, misuse or misappropriation of the Company's properties.
- Prudently use the Company's Information Technology Resources in a manner consistent with the Company's guidelines, including those related to data protection, intellectual property rights, etc. and avoid use of threatening, offensive or fraudulent messages, including those that offensively attack race, religion, sex, nationality, disability, etc.
- Not to cause or permit security breaches or disruptions of network communication, circumventing user authentication or security of any computer, network application or other technology and unauthorized use of other's password, etc. The Company management reserves the right to terminate any user's access to IT resources at any time, with or without notice
- Not to accept any offer, payment, promise to pay, or authorization to pay any money, gift, or anything of value from customers, vendors, consultants, etc. that is perceived as intended, directly or indirectly, to influence any business decision, any act or failure to act, any commitment of fraud, or opportunity for the commission of any fraud. It is reiterated here that accepting gifts or favors in cash or kind, can lead to strict disciplinary action.
- Demonstrate our resolve to eliminate waste, discreet utilization of office stationery and infrastructure amenities with an eye on minimizing operational costs, recycle paper to the extent possible for addressing inter-office memos, file copies of correspondence, etc.
- Your compensation is strictly confidential; do not disclose your compensation details with any internal (employees) as well as external parties.
- Employees are expected to be punctual and regular in their attendance.

Please note below are the instances which calls for immediate strict disciplinary action and stands for a sackable offence:

- Disclosure of Salary details with colleagues or any outside party.
- Office Romance with colleagues or romantic overtures with the clients / customers.
- Bypassing official hierarchy and escalating / discussing any issues related to work to higher Management or MD.

- Fraud (eg. making a fraudulent expenses claim)
- Sexual Harassment
- Theft and dishonesty
- Vandalism of employer property
- Fighting or physical violence
- Gross negligence
- Serious insubordination
- Accepting or offering bribes
- Alcoholic intoxication or being under the influence of illegal drugs indecent behaviour
- Sabotage
- Serious breaches of health and safety rules
- Offensive behaviour such as racist or sexist abuse
- Illegal activities and criminal acts, whether during or outside the course of employment
- Bullying or intimidation of colleagues or managers
- Downloading or viewing pornography
- Downloading software from the internet or using personal software (where there is a risk of viruses etc)
- Misusing confidential information or setting up a competing business
- Use of social media which tarnishes the reputation of the employer